

FCC, Leave XM Sattellite Radio alone. Do not limit them. There are things in this country that need regulating but sattellite radio is not one of them. This is a product and a service that actaully works. Way beyond just pure enjoyment, I forsee a day that we will need the power of sattellie radio to provide local information to a city like Los Angeles in case of a major catastrophic event i.e. a earthquake or 911 kind of attack. The FCC should be helping XM Sattlellite Radio to improve their service. They shouldn't be an impediment to progress in the radio industry.
Thank you.
